

SUGAR TARIFF RESTORATION IS POSSIBLE

President Wilson Sounding Party Leaders on Repeal of "Free" Proviso.

The advisability of retaining the present tariff on sugar is being seriously considered by President Wilson. It is learned today. While the President has not fully determined on the sugar tariff plan, it is believed to be extremely probable.

A compilation of the sugar importations and revenue derived during the last few years is being made for the President by Treasury officials. Facts and figures regarding the sugar schedule since 1913 are being compiled by customs officials to furnish Secretary McAdoo with information for advising the White House whether restoring the tariff on sugar will solve the revenue problem.

It also became known that the President is sounding officials and party leaders regarding the sugar tariff question.

$50,000,000 Revenue.

Under the present new tariff law, sugar goes on the free list on May 1, 1916. The duty has already been reduced about 25 per cent. If the duty now in force is retained, it is estimated, it would net $50,000,000 annually.

The President is reluctant to repeal the "free sugar" proviso for several reasons. One of these is the strong lobby already organized and working vigorously to that very end. Another reason advanced is that the President himself insisted, when the new law was being framed, upon the sugar tariff reduction.

Needs of the Treasury for more revenue and the political effect in Louisiana, Colorado, California, and other "sugar" States are considerations in favor of modifying the schedule.

Other Tariff Changes.

It is also reported that the Administration is considering further slight tariff changes, to provide additional revenue, by increasing duties on liquors, and also possibly an extension of the income tax to smaller incomes.

Reason For Fight. Dr. R. O. Young, a Louisiana banker, is quoted in the Gazette, of Lafayette, La., as charging Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, with being one of the prime movers for free sugar, that big Kentucky distilling interests have fought for free sugar ever since the civil war. He alleges that the opposition of liquor interests to a tariff on sugar is based on the theory that removal of a sugar tariff with its resultant loss of revenue will make the Government more than ever dependent on a big revenue from liquor. "It will be recalled," says Dr. Young, "that when the last tariff bill reached the United States Senate, Democratic votes from Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, and Missouri, who were careful to look after the welfare of whiskey, beer, and tobacco, did not hesitate to destroy the leading industry of Louisiana. He urges that battle for prohibition be started. He says liquor interests have rested secure in the belief Louisiana would not become a dry State, whereas he thinks the votes to make it dry can be mustered."

Painful Swollen Veins Quickly Relieved and Reduced

Mrs. F. M. Remier, of Federal, Kansas, writes an interesting account of her success in reducing a severe case of enlarged veins that should be encouraging to others similarly afflicted. She suffered with badly swollen and inflamed veins (in fact, one had broken), for more than seven years before she became acquainted with Absorbine, Jr., and used it. Absorbine, Jr., was faithfully applied for several weeks, and, to quote from her letter, "The large knots in the veins left, it was all nicely healed, and has not bothered me since."

GARDEN.

Marie Dressler's second big film production, "Tillie's Tomato Surprise," by Acton Davies, was greeted with the laughter it promised to evoke when shown at Moore's Garden Theater yesterday and today. It will be seen again tomorrow Wednesday, and Thursday. The heroine is a "simple" city maiden who goes to the country. The piece has been produced by a Lubin company.

CRANDALL.

"The Wonderful Adventure," by Capt. Wilbur Lawton, in which William Farnum is starred by the Fox Film Company, was the attraction which drew crowds of G. A. R. veterans, as well as the regular patrons, to Crandall's Theater yesterday and today.

The special feature for G. A. R. week provided by Manager Crandall will be shown tomorrow when "Guarding Old Glory" will be produced for the first time in this city. This film is a story of what the army, navy, and marine corps of the United States are endeavoring to do. It gives a comprehensive idea of the nation's defenders in action. Friday and Saturday Richard Buhler, Edwin August, and Lillian Tucker will be seen again in "Evidence." The concert by the Crandall orchestra are features of the performances, all of which this week, by the way, begin at 9 a. m.

Week's Programs At Casino and Cosmos

Notices in Yesterday's Times for Two Houses Appeared Under Wrong Heading.

Readers of The Times amusement pages yesterday were probably confused at finding the Casino program under the Cosmos name.

These notices are run as a correction:

COSMOS.

Five veterans of the blue army of the civil war will furnish the chief attraction at the Cosmos during Grand Army week, playing upon instruments they carried in the war the old tunes of those days and otherwise entertaining with fiddles, cornets, the harmonica, and the bones.

Other attractions will include Morris

STRAND.

Bruce MacRae, the well known stage star, who has appeared but once before in motion pictures, is the chief figure of "Via Wireless," the Paul Armstrong-Winchell Smith stage success, which will be the chief feature of the program at the Strand Theater yesterday, and will be the chief feature today, tomorrow, and Wednesday. Gail Kane, Paul McAllister have important parts in the play.

LEADER.

At the Leader Theater today Julius Steger was seen in the second of the Equitable Film Company's productions, "The Master of the House," in which he also played the leading role on the stage. The play is based upon the dramatic situations caused by a husband who fires of his old-fashioned wife, and will be shown tomorrow and Wednesday.

Thursday and Friday, a special feature of the program will be presented in "The Battle of Pzemya," which shows pictures of actual fighting on the German-Russian line. Saturday and Sunday, Vivian Martin will be seen in the World Film Company's production of "Little Mademoiselle."

CASINO.

For G. A. R. week Manager Fosse has secured for the Casino "The Old Soldier Musicians." In this act three of the men who marched up Pennsylvania avenue fifty years ago will present bugle calls, a fife and drum program, etc.

Another offering appropriate for G. A. R. week will be the "Girls from the North and the South," in costumes of war days, who will sing the war songs, comedy will be supplied by Ladel and Hughes; Tommy Van and the Ward Girls have new songs and dances, and Rye and Rye present a gymnastic act. "The Flaming Sword," with Jane Gray and Lionel Barrymore, will be the motion picture feature.

Marie Dressler an Example of How Stage Stars Do "Stunts"

Some days ago, a photoplayer of note was quoted as saying that the "stunt" actress and actor are losing ground in the motion pictures and the legitimate artists are taking their places. Marie Dressler comes forward with a confirmation of that statement. But Miss Dressler declares the directors of motion pictures are making "stunt" actors and actresses of the people they bring from the legitimate stage. And Miss Dressler further remarks that while it is all "a whole lot of fun, they are just a trifle hard on the nerves of a sensitive woman."

When Acton Davies, the playwright and dramatic critic, was in Washington some months ago, he promised the editor of the photoplay department of The Times a real surprise when Miss Dressler appeared in "Tillie's Tomato Surprise," which the Lubin company has now produced, and which will be seen at the Garden Theater here the most of this week.

According to advice from Miss Dressler, she, too, was "surprised." Acton Davies wrote the piece and helped produce it. Miss Dressler is taking a vacation to recover from her "surprise." The first inkling of the "surprise" came to her when she was required to fall from a moving automobile. Then she was pushed through a brick wall, yanked into the atmosphere on the end of a steel cable, rolled under the open spout of a barrel previously filled with molasses and to jump from a bridge to a moving train, and then made to jump from the train into a small box.

"I may say without peradventure, as our leading romancists put it, that I was and still am a trifle surprised," declares Miss Dressler between bandages. "Likewise, as one might infer from the cotton batting and lint kimono in which I am appearing, I was a trifle bruised."

"Yes," she remarked, "those stunts are a little hard on the nerves, and I've accumulated a number of bruises—but there was an awful lot of fun in making the picture. In one scene I'm supposed to be pushed through a brick wall. Naturally we built that wall with water mortar, not expecting it to stick together very much. But something intervened and we couldn't take that particular scene on the afternoon the brick wall was constructed. The next day when we came to filming it, we found the mortar had dried—and I want to tell you that it was a mighty hard brick wall that I was rammed against."

Miss Dressler is a great photoplayer and is advising all her stage friends to take up the work. She had a private exhibition of her new film at the Gaiety Palace Hotel, White Plains, recently, and invited William Courtney and his wife, Virginia, to see it. She is well known in the city, where she was leading woman in a stock company several seasons.

German Bayonet Gets Only Six in Thousand

LONDON, Sept. 27.—How little the bayonet is used by the Germans in this war is shown by the fact that of the first 1,000 soldiers treated in the American Red Cross Hospital at Paignton, only six had been wounded by bayonets. About 50 per cent of the shrapnel shell, grenades, or gunshot wounds were found to be non-perforating. Not counting fractures, the wounds were located as follows: Head, 54; neck, 8; trunk, 122; upper extremity, 122; lower extremity, 54; central and peripheral nerve injuries, 11; circulatory, 1. Heart trouble and rheumatic fever were most frequently observed. The average time elapsing between the injury and the first field dressing of the wound was about six and a half hours. Thirty-five of the 1,000 wounded were unfit ever to return to duty, and those who did return were, on an average, about twenty-three days on sick leave. Only three of the thousand died.

Best Treatment for Catarrh S. S. S. Removes the Cause

Specialists in Catarrh troubles have agreed that it is an infection of the blood. The laboratories of the S. S. S. Co. at Atlanta, have proven it. Once you get your blood free from impurities—cleaned of the Catarrhal poisons, which it is now a prey to because of its unhealthy state—then you will be relieved of Catarrh—the dripping in the throat, hawking and spitting, raw sores in the nostrils, and the disagreeable bad breath. It was caused, in the first place, because your impoverished blood was easily infected. Possibly a slight cold or contact with someone who had a cold. But the point is—don't suffer with Catarrh—it is not necessary. The remedy S. S. S. discovered over fifty years ago, tested, true and tried, is always obtainable at any drug store. It has proven its value in thousands of cases. It will do so in your case. Get S. S. S. at once and begin treatment. If yours is a long standing case, be sure to write the S. S. S. Co., Atlanta, Ga., for free expert medical advice. They will tell you how this purely vegetable blood tonic cleanses the impurities from the blood by literally washing it clean. They will prove to you that thousands of sufferers from Catarrh, after consistent treatment with S. S. S., have been freed from the trouble and all its disagreeable features and restored to perfect health and vigor. Don't delay the treatment. Take S. S. S. at once.—Adv.
